Associate Yacht Designer / Naval Architect Job Description

Langan Design Partners is seeking an associate Yacht Designer / Naval Architect to join our team in Newport RI.

Langan Design has been a leading design office for over 25 years. Our design portfolio includes a wide range of sail and motor yachts: new custom builds, refits, and production projects. We are known for our attention to detail, our creative solutions, our technical abilities, and our focus on providing value to our clients. In addition, we think we are nice people to work with!

Job description

Assist in project development: This includes naval architecture, performance optimization, powering, exterior styling, interior design, engineering and structures, system layouts, regulatory review. Most of our projects are a mix of all these elements. Exact tasks will depend on the candidates' strengths and interests.

Create and adapt designs, drawings and technical calculations and ensure projects comply with the appropriate regulatory frameworks

Work within a team of senior designers, suppliers, shipyards, project managers, and clients.

General requirements

- Must be a Naval architecture / Yacht design graduate
- Work experience at a design office or shipyard is helpful but not strictly required
- Must be comfortable working in a team environment, while being self-motivated and willing to learn
- Must have excellent visual and verbal communication skills
- Fluency in English
- Must have the legal right to work in the US

Technical requirements

- A solid understanding of naval architecture principles.
- 2D drafting experience required (Autocad or similar)
- 3D modelling skills (Rhino or other) is recommended, although some training may be accomplished on the job.
- Solid understanding of Excel is a must
- Graphic design skills (Photoshop, Illustrator) would be beneficial.
- Knowledge of boatbuilding methods, materials, and requirements is recommended
- Sailing/rowing/boating experience a must!

Consideration will be made if an applicant has a strong background in some areas but does not meet all the requirements noted above.

- Salary: Commensurate with experience
- Start date: To be determined
- Location: Newport, RI – the yachting capital of the Northeast!
